

CFAC 4/23 - Draft Freight Plan Vision Statement

California, as the national gateway for freight, has a safe, sustainable, globally and economically competitive freight transportation system that provides reliable and efficient mobility and accessibility of people, freight, and services while protecting and enhancing community health, air quality, and the environment.

California's transportation system, with a primary goal of moving people and freight, is an integrated, connected, multimodal network that is developed through collaboration and fosters a prosperous economy, a healthy environment, and social equity.

Caltrans Revised Draft Freight Plan Vision Statement

As the national gateway for international trade, California enhances economic competitiveness by collaboratively developing and operating an integrated, multimodal freight transportation system that provides safe, sustainable freight mobility. This system facilitates the reliable and efficient movement of freight while promoting a prosperous economy, social equity, and a healthy environment.
